

Why the World is Round

Written and Illustrated

On one hot summer day, Whiskers the magic cat was napping in the forest.

Just then, a swirling leaf fell on his head.

Realizing that the leaf reminded him of a question that he had always wanted an answer for, Whiskers decided to find out the answer.

Meow! I'm going to find out if the world is flat or round! Meow!

So, Whiskers built himself a boat to sail into space. Aboard the boat, Whiskers set sail. He brought some water and a hollowed out log.

When Whiskers finally got to the edge of the Earth, he fell into outer space.

Meow! I need to take all of the planets
and make them into one big planet!

Whiskers stuffed all of the planets into the hollowed out log. When he took them out, they were in the shape of a gigantic planet. He called the planet Earth.

Whiskers looked at what he had done. Whiskers was happy.

So Whiskers went back to Earth.

When Whiskers returned to the Earth, everyone was happy that Whiskers made the Earth round. All of the animals had a party for him.

And that's why the Earth is Round.
